Elba High teacher Al Gilmore named Alabama DAR Outstanding Teacher of American History

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Elba High School history teacher Al Gilmore last week was named Alabama's DAR [Daughters of the American Revolution] Outstanding Teacher of American History for 2023.

Previously, Gilmore was selected by the local John Coffee DAR Chapter as its Outstanding Teacher of American History, and Nell Gilmer, John Coffee DAR historian, submitted Gilmore's credentials to State DAR Historian Susan Moore for consideration at the state level. He was chosen as the state's outstanding teacher of American history.

Gilmore received the state award last Friday, March 3, during the 125th State DAR Conference, which was held in Auburn, Ala.

"A lot of people think coaches only care about coaching, but Al has always had a passion for history and cares about molding students into better people who can use what they learn from him to make a future for themselves," said Gilmore's wife, Jenny, who attended the conference with her husband to see him accept the prestigious award. "Sometimes it's in the classroom, and sometimes it's on a ball field, but more often than not, it's him showing his kids through his actions and words that he believes in them and truly cares about them and their future."

Gilmore graduated from Troy University with a degree in social science and a minor in political science. He has been a teacher now for 16 years with his last five years being a history teacher at Elba High School. He also serves as a coach at Elba High School.

His father, Lyvon Gilmore, was a teacher and administrator in the Alabama and Georgia public school systems for over 32 years, and his mother, Frances Gilmore, was a teacher in the Alabama public school system for 30 years before she retired.

"My parents taught me the value of learning, not just in our own personal history, but in the history of the country and the world," Gilmore said. "They taught me that looking into the past can help shape the future."

Elba High School principal Wynn Grimes said the school is extremely proud of Coach Gilmore in being named the Outstanding

Zion Chapel's Padgett/Young sign with Troy University's Bass Fishing Team

by Cliff Lusk, TROY

Troy University's Bass Fishing Team has signed three high school fishermen to its ranks.

Signing with the team before a crowd of about 100 were Avery Padgett, of Elba, Ethan Young, of Jack - both from Zion Chapel High School - and Kasen Pemberton of Chipley, Fla.

The trio will join current team members next year in traveling across the country, fishing in up to 20 collegiate bass tournaments. Those tournaments, head coach Evan Rice said, can consist of up to 550 collegiate anglers representing as many as 200 universities and colleges on the Association of Collegiate Anglers' Bass Pro Shops Collegiate Bass Fishing Series, where the team currently holds the 88th place.

"These young men will be competing against some serious competition in college, but they're really good anglers, and can always work with the current team members who already have tournament experience," Rice said. "I can't wait to see what they do on the water."

The TROY fishing team started about 2010, but the team has undergone tremendous growth over the past two years, a trend Rice looks to continue.

"TROY was a pretty easy choice," said Pemberton. "They have great leadership within the fishing program and there are no limits on what you can fish. I just saw a special connection within the team at TROY no other school had. TROY sets you up for the ultimate college fishing career. They put anglers first and that was a huge factor for me."

Padgett expects to put lessons learned on the Coosa River to work at fisheries such as South Carolina's Lake Hartwell, where spotted bass are prime tournament targets.

"I fish the Coosa River more than anywhere. It is known for big spotted-bass, so I feel I can take the same techniques and apply them at Lake Hartwell," he said.

WRECK CAUSES ROAD CLOSURE FOR SEVERAL HOURS...The single-vehicle wreck last Wednesday morning, March 1, of the commercial vehicle pictured above caused both lanes of Alabama Highway 189 near the 23-mile marker in Coffee County to be closed for several hours that day. The wreck occurred at approximately 6:59 a.m., and it was late Wednesday afternoon before the road was reopened. The driver of the truck, a 36-year-old male, was transported from the scene to an area hospital where he received treatment for injuries, including a severe head laceration. Chickens were being transported by the commercial vehicle at the time of the wreck. It was investigated by Alabama State Troopers.

New Brockton Town Council votes to hire new lawyer

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Following an approximate 15-minute executive session Monday night, March 6, the New Brockton Town Council voted to hire a new attorney for the town.

Late last year, attorney Joshua Pipkin resigned as the town's attorney following a resignation from Kathy Holley as mayor. Since that time, the town council had been searching to replace Pipkin.

Monday night, council members voted to enter an executive session to discuss candidates for the job. Upon returning to open session, a motion was made to hire the Shirley Law Firm - Merrill and Griffin Shirley - to represent the Town of New Brockton.

This motion passed by unanimous vote.

Since the start of the new year, Ralph Medley was appointed to fill the mayor's vacancy for the current term, and District Three citizen Will Reeves was appointed to fill the council seat vacated after Medley moved to the mayor's post.

SWINGER WINS RUMBLE ON THE RIVER BATTLE ROYALE...IMPACT! Wrestling superstar Johnny Swinger was among the professional wrestlers in Elba last Friday, March 3, for the 2nd Annual Rumble on the River event. Those in attendance were entertained with a Lucha Libre match, an 8-man battle royale, and more. 73-year-old "Action" Mike Jackson defended his U.S. Junior Title in a win over Brock Garvin, and Swinger got lots of cheers with his signature move the "swinging neckbreaker" in a special event match over the Mercenary (shown above). This fundraiser helps raise monies each year for the Elba High School football program.

"Good friends, good books, and a sleepy conscience: this is the ideal life". - Mark Twain Book reading is a favorite in this corner and always has been. It bodes well with the aging process . . . as long as the eyes continue to function. We are still in the Abe Lincoln book by Jon Meacham, but are being pressed to 'hurry'. A local avid book reader dropped by last week with a sack of great books for us to review/read. A couple we had already read, but the others are screaming "read me, read me." A hundred dollar bill (and we do like money) would not have excited us as much as these books!

Sometime last year we received a box of fine books from the family of the late Supreme Court Justice Hugh Maddox. Our ties with Judge Maddox go way back to our school days at CCHS in Florala and it humbled us that family members would turn loose such treasures to - 'us'.

Last week the students at the Elba schools were entertained by a Montgomery school choir, which has long blossomed under the guidance of Elba native Dr. Henry Terry. The performance was a tribute to Black History Month. Having known Henry since his local school days and followed his progress through the years, we continue to be amazed at his mastery of music, and particularly the piano. Even better is to realize how he has so effectively passed that love of music and developed the talents of an untold number of Montgomery high school students over the past 30 years. During the music program at the school, our mind wandered a bit. Watching those students and thinking of how easy it would be for any one of them to be running around Montgomery fighting, robbing and killing others, we uttered a short prayer of THANKS. Dr. Terry, we salute you!

It amazed us that almost 40 students/teachers at Elba High School donated a pint of blood to help the bloodmobile. They are to be congratulated. Just think how many sick folks that will help and during our teen years we were not allowed to donate blood!

The Better Business Bureau issued a report this week urging citizens to watch for scams, both on the phone and more particularly on social media. They noted a jump from 12% to 39% in text message scams in the past year. That is just in the reported cases. It doesn't count those people who were too embarrassed to report the loss, nor those text messages sent out that were wisely ignored by the receiver. Of course the scammers usually want your credit card number, or even more brazen an electric transfer of funds. Employment scams lead the list as 'most risky' for the 18-34 age group. Online purchase scams are the most popular for the 35-64 age group while home improvement scams lead the list for the over 65 age group.

Elba's rumored new program (industry, retail business, whatever), only referred to with a code word, known only to a close knit few will be publically known - we think - next week with an announcement in The Elba Clipper. Phone conversations with a person who declined to say who she was representing indicated we would get information to put in the newspaper no later than next Monday. Stay tuned for 'the rest of the story!'

Be safe, wear your mask when appropriate, social distance, wash your hands AND get the shot(s) and/or boosters (the newest one)!

Cuzin Lou Lou's
Tales from Yonder
 Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

Cuzin Lou Lou achieved a "first" last weekend...she fried catfish fillets for the first time!

A friend of the Yonder Gang delivered a mess of fresh, already cleaned and filleted, catfish earlier in the week. He said he knew Papa would enjoy the fish and wanted to share them with the gang.

Lou Lou has never been one to eat fish or seafood. The long story made short is that she had an allergic reaction as a young child to what was believed at the time to have been caused by fish. Years later, it was concluded that the reaction was probably not caused by fish after all, but the damage was done already...Lou Lou had no taste for it.

Over the past few years, she has tried a time or two to "taste-test" samplings of fish and/or seafood to see if her palate had changed. There have been some okay results, but for the most part, Lou Lou continues to not care for the taste of fish nor seafood.

Sister, on the other hand, will eat fish occasionally, but she is very, very picky as to what she will and will not eat. It has to be prepared "just right" for her liking to get her to eat it.

Taking this into consideration, Lou Lou still wanted Papa to be able to enjoy the catfish shared with the Yonder Gang, but she did not want to waste it either. So, she invited some family members over for lunch last Saturday, and prepared a meal of fried catfish fillets, cole slaw, and French fries.

Leading up to the meal preparations, Lou Lou did a little research on the best way to prepare the fried catfish, and she made sure to have the appropriate ingredients. She also got the "smell-good" candles going in the house to help cover that fishy smell that goes along with the preparations!

Several had offered advice to Lou Lou on the cooking process, and she found that the tip of checking the fish for flakiness to ensure it was well done was probably the best tip she received. Otherwise, Lou Lou is not sure if she would have known when to take the pieces of fish out of the fryer.

As the group sat down together to eat the prepared food, there were affirmations of "this is really good" that helped Lou Lou's feelings! After the meal, there were only a few pieces of fish left uneaten so that to let Lou Lou know that she had hit the success mark with frying catfish fillets!

Papa thoroughly enjoyed the meal, and Lou Lou decided that made it all worthwhile. However, she is hoping he doesn't expect another round of catfish frying anytime soon. That was work and nerve-racking for Lou Lou!

There are those who wondered what Lou Lou and Sister ate instead of the fish for the meal, and the answer is simple...CHICKEN!

The Yonder Gang thanks their friend for supplying them with the fish for the meal, especially Papa! He ate his portion and then some! If Lou Lou is not careful, she will spoil the old guy, and he will start expecting that kind of treatment more often. We can't let that happen!!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

Project for new Elba Chamber location stalls

During the Monday, Feb. 27, Elba City Council meeting, Mayor Tom Maddox provided an update on the attempt to find a new location for the Elba Chamber of Commerce office.

The search for a new location for the Chamber has been ongoing for quite some time, and Mayor Maddox announced during the meeting that the project is 'on hold' yet again.

The city had been looking for a contractor to renovate the old dime store building located on Davis Street in downtown Elba to allow the Chamber to move into a portion of that building. However, the mayor said one project quote received for the renovations was too high for the funds available, and he said a second contractor that had looked at the job had not returned any figures. Further, the mayor said he could not even get that contractor to reply to him any longer.

Therefore, Maddox said the project was on hold again. There was no further discussion on the matter during the Feb. 27th meeting.

Avery Padgett and Ethan Young sign their 'letters of intent' to join the Troy University Bass Fishing Team after graduation this year from Zion Chapel High School.

BASS

For Young, having the chance to fish in new waters was a major motivation in committing to the team.

"I'm most excited about traveling to all these new fisheries and competing against other colleges. We're going to bring some trophies back to TROY," he said.

Team President Sawyer McCullough, a senior for Bay Minette, said having the opportunity to expand TROY's competitiveness and tournaments hinged on the support of sponsors, since the team is a club sport, rather than a traditionally funded sport.

"Troy University helps us get to all these tournaments, and without them we wouldn't be able to recruit these high school anglers," he said. "The support we receive from our sponsors, combined with University support gets us to the tournaments we need to fish in order to be successful."

Current team members, led by seniors Hunter Bettner of Fairhope, Grayson Davis of Dothan, and Nathan Burdett, of Wetumpka, include freshmen Kendall Massey of Lakeland, Fla., Fischer Barber of Birmingham, Judson Helms of Goshen, sophomores Collis Adcock of Tallahassee, Fla., Tucker Jordan of Daphne, Austin Archie of Luverne, Colby Dutton, Panama City, Fla., Dalton Daniels of Pike Road, Javon Edwards of McCalla, and juniors Gracie Herbold of Headland, Sawyer McCullough of Bay Minette, and Davis Watts, of Prattville.

The team can be followed on Facebook at Troy University Bass Fishing, on Instagram via @troybassteam and on the team's website.

What is Lent? The Meaning and Purpose of the Lent Season

Lent is a sacred period for Christians. It lasts for 40 days, beginning on Ash Wednesday and ending on Easter Sunday. Exactly how this time is used depends on the practices of each individual, but typically it is a time for things such as reflection, prayer, penance, giving, and fasting. Lent is a time to prepare one's heart and mind for Good Friday and Easter and to remind Christians of the sacrifice made by Jesus Christ.

The word Lent comes from the Old English word "lencen" meaning springtime and from the German word "langitinaz" meaning lengthening. Lent is observed in the spring when days are starting to get longer.

Lent recognizes the 40 days following Jesus' baptism when he went into the desert without food or water and was tempted by Satan. By observing Lent, Christians remember Christ's sacrifice. Easter celebrates the resurrection of Christ following his death on the cross and Lent helps Christians remember the events leading up to his crucifixion.

Fasting is a very common practice during Lent. Fasting is seen as a reminder of Jesus' sacrifice. It can also be used as a time to connect more with God. But not everyone fasts in the same way. While some Christians may fast for the entire period, today most use this as a time to give up a particular vice as a form of sacrifice. Typically these are things like a favorite food or drink. And others may fast only on Ash Wednesday or Good Friday (the Friday before Easter).

Another common practice during this time is to give to others such as by donating goods to charity, giving money to those in need, or giving of one's time to a special cause.

Christians do not believe this time of repentance and sacrifice is done to earn favor with God, as Christians believe Jesus' sacrifice on the cross is the only thing that has the power to save. Instead Lent is seen as a time to improve one's relationship with God, accept his mercy, repent and grow as a believer. Spending time fasting and praying during Lent can make the Easter celebration more meaningful.

Our youngest grandson Cannon has his first tooth and I guess that means before long he can put up the bottle and start eating real food. The little man had been in a bad mood for a few weeks as the tooth prepared to make its appearance, and I know his Mom and Dad hope now that he has survived the first one maybe the rest will come in without so much noise.

For what it is worth....

 I was disappointed last week that the Elba Lady Tigers lost in the semifinals of the state basketball tournament, not because I was disappointed they didn't bring home a state championship, but mostly disappointed for the girls on the team that worked so hard for so long and played as hard as they could play only to come up two wins short. The Elba team was very young and inexperienced back when the season tipped off and basically had only two starters back from a year ago in sophomore A'Lyric Whitfield and junior Kendra Juarez, but over the course of the season other girls stepped up to the challenge and bought into a system that was simple — play hard for all thirty-two minutes and never back down. As the final seconds ticked off the clock Monday last Monday morning up in Birmingham, the Lady Tigers had a freshman, three sophomores and a junior on the court battling against the defending state champions. They were still young, but were no longer inexperienced, and you can bet the next time they take the court they will remember the experience of playing at the state tournament, and practice and play just a little bit harder. The foundation was set a few years back for a successful girls' basketball program at Elba High and the building process is definitely still taking place. Elba Lady Tigers — we are all proud of you!

 The high school baseball and softball seasons are finally in full swing and it looks like another fun season for all the teams in the area. In baseball, the Elba Tigers are still hunting for their first win as they try to find a stopper to give them some much needed help out of the bullpen as they have given up over 14 runs a game in the first five games, while New Brockton has struggled at times early in what was expected to be a banner year, Zion Chapel overcame a slow start to knock off SA Charles Henderson and should be ready to roll, Kinston is also off to a slow start in what Bulldog fans thought would be a winning campaign, and Brantley finally got started and despite an early loss should be just fine. Over in softball, the Elba Lady Tigers finally opened their season led by a quartet of basketball standouts, Kinston is off to a fast start and may be a surprise team to keep an eye on, New Brockton is off to an unusually slow start and is looking for an answer to its struggles, Zion Chapel appears to be a team to beat in the 2A ranks, and Brantley won a bunch of games in a tourney in Wetumpka before falling in the finals and is no doubt a 1A power, once again.

 The college basketball season has reached the beginning of 'March Madness' and it looks like both Alabama and Auburn should be taking part in the dance. The Crimson Tide is all of the sudden everybody's bad boy after a regrettable incident on campus that left a student deceased after being shot with a gun belonging to a former player, and while everyone should care more about the family of the deceased student than Bama basketball, the incident has obviously affected the team. Auburn is a team that has double-digit losses, but is still a team that no one wants to play because of its hard-nosed style on defense and its aggressive nature. I am a Bama fan, but would not be surprised if the Tigers outlast the Tide once the dance starts.

 In closing.... The fishing has really picked up at the Coffee County Lake and the fish are beginning to bite anything that hits the water. A nine-pound bass was caught last week from the bank, while two ladies left the pond with ten bass, a couple of catfish and more bream than they wanted to clean. Yep, it is time to head out to the 'county pond' and get some fresh air while enjoying fishing.

Late rally falls short

Lady Tigers fall in 'Final Four'

The Elba Lady Tigers trailed for over 29 minutes in last week's 32-minute Class 1A semi-final clash with the defending state champion Marion County Red Raiders, but never quit battling and saw a furious fourth quarter rally fall short in a heartbreaking 68-61 loss.

Elba led early 3-2 after a three-point basket by A'Lyric Whitfield and again at 5-4 with 5:08 left in the first quarter after a basket by Kendra Juarez, but never led again in a game of swings that saw the Lady Tigers keep battling back from behind.

Ana Caldwell scored from inside to pull Elba even at 10-10 with 1:59 remaining in the stanza; however, Marion County scored the final ten points of the opening quarter and the first five of the second quarter to open up a 25-10 advantage with 7:29 left in the quarter.

Baskets by Alayvia Stinson and Juarez ended the scoring drought for the Lady Tigers and pulled Elba within 25-14 with 5:19 remaining while A'Lyric Whitfield drained two long three-pointers in the final two minutes of the half to spark an 8-0 run as the Lady Tigers went in at intermission trailing 29-24.

Marion County came out on fire in the third quarter and used a 13-0 run to stretch its lead to 42-24 with 5:16 left in the stanza. The Red Raiders took their biggest lead of the game at 48-28 with 3:38 remaining in the quarter and it appeared the defending state champs were ready to run Elba out of the gym. However, two free throws by Brooke Tinsley slowed down the runaway Raiders, and sparked by the play of freshman Ny'Asia McCollough and Kendra Juarez, the Lady Tigers closed the stanza with a 9-2 rally to pull within 53-45 heading into the final stanza.

Marion County quickly regained command early in the fourth quarter and owned a 59-45 lead with 6:43 left on the clock, but the Lady Tigers again refused to quit and led by the play of McCollough and Whitfield answered with a 14-0 rally to pull even at 59-59 with 3:46 still left in the quarter.

Marion County pulled back on top 63-59 with 3:06 on the clock, while a pair of free throws by Ana Caldwell pulled the Lady Tigers within two points at 63-61 with 1:34 remaining. Marion County had hit only 5 of 17 free throws in the game's first thirty-one minutes, but hit three of six in the closing seconds and added a lay-up at the buzzer as Elba saw its season end with the 68-61 state tournament defeat.

A'Lyric Whitfield scored 23 points to lead Elba, while Ny'Asia McCollough added 11 points and 3 steals, Kendra Juarez added 9 points and 8 rebounds, Ana Caldwell added 8 points and 6 rebounds, and Tajah Purvis, Yada Caldwell, Brooke Tinsley, Ayrika Caldwell and Alayvia Stinson all added 2 points.

Qualifying for nationals this summer

ZC fishing duo earns fourth place finish in recent bass tournament

Well, as Avery Padgett said, he and his partner, Ethan Young, accomplished what they set out to do this season. On Saturday, Feb. 25, 2023, the fishing duo punched their ticket to the BASSMASTER High School National Championship Tournament this summer.

Team Padgett/Young, with Taylor Renfro as captain, finished fourth with five fish weighing 15.6 pounds in the Strike King BASSMASTER High School Open presented by Academy Sports + Outdoors on Lay Lake, Columbia, Ala. Fifteen states were represented on the roster. Congratulations to a team from Illinois for their first-place win.

By comparing the stats, it shows how close the winners were. Second place weighed in 15.8 pounds; third place weighed in 15.7 pounds; and Padgett/Young came in fourth with 15.6 pounds. These were from a field of 223 boats. There was a total of 164 boats that weighed in for the event.

Along with the hardware Padgett/Young brought home, they received $500 each, not a bad reward for doing what one loves.

The dates and location for the national championship tournament have not been announced. There will be two more open tournaments before the final roster for the national is determined. There will be an open on Lake Chicamauga, Tennessee, and Tiger River, Louisiana. These two tournaments will give more anglers an opportunity to qualify for nationals.

In January there was an open on the Harris Chain of Lakes, Leesburg, Fla.

This successful weekend was capped Monday evening, Feb. 27, when Avery Padgett, Ethan Young, and Casen Pemberton from Chipley, Fla., signed their national letters of intent to fish for the Troy University Bass Team beginning this fall.

The ZC Team will be back on the water Saturday, March 11, on Lake Jordan fishing on the East Alabama High School Bass Trail.

Avery Padgett and Ethan Young are pictured holding the five fish that vaulted them to a fourth place finish Saturday, Feb. 25, at the Strike King BASSMASTER High School Open presented by Academy Sports + Outdoors on Lay Lake, Columbiana, Ala. This finish qualified the local fishing duo to participate in the BASSMASTER High School National Championship Tournament this summer

Teacher of American History by Alabama DAR. He said he could not think of a history teacher more deserving of the award than Gilmore.

"Coach Gilmore's dedication to teaching and to his students is evident daily in his classroom," Grimes said. "He not only teaches our students about American history, but he also finds ways to make it exciting for the students to learn. His students enjoy being a part of his class, and that says a lot about Coach Gilmore and his teaching abilities."

Further, Grimes said Gilmore challenges his students daily, and that is something that administrators love to see from their teachers.

"Our students really respond to the challenges Coach Gilmore gives them in his classroom, and that is what teaching is all about," Grimes said.

Gilmore said his teaching philosophy is simple.

"My students must be able to read and research information on their own and put that information into sentence or essay form," he said. "Most importantly, they must be able to answer the question 'Why?'. They may have any point of view they choose, but if they cannot explain 'why' they believe the way they do, then their explanation has no real value."

Gilmore will now be in competition for the national DAR title of Outstanding Teacher of American History.

CHURCH & LOCAL NEWS

PASTOR'S CORNER

by Kit Johnson, Pastor
Elba First Baptist Church

Our children were so quick to complete all things necessary for bed one night that my wife rewarded them with an hour of TV-time before bed. Our four-year-old was so excited to learn that an hour was 60 minutes; 60 of anything is A LOT according to her.

This started a series of thoughts in my mind. One hour passes too quickly on our lunch break from work, but time seems to stand still when we are waiting to be seated at a restaurant.

We know time is a nonrenewable resource, but unlike other resources, we have no way of knowing how much time we have remaining. The psalmist writes, "Teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom" (Ps 90:12). Not only is our lives on earth temporary, time itself is temporary. There will be no clocks in eternity; thus, we must live in view of the brevity of life seeking God's wisdom that we make the most of our time.

Paul wrote in Ephesians 5:15-16, "look carefully then how you walk, not as unwise but as wise, making the best use of the time, because the days are evil." If you have ever taken a vacation, you likely spent weeks planning out the details because you recognized that you would only have so much time to enjoy everything. We go with intentions and a plan to make the most of each day. Why are we living our life as if we have all the time in the world to fulfill God's will for our lives.

The following lyrics are from the popular musical "Hamilton". How do you write like you're running out of time. Every day you fight like you're, running out time. Are you running out time? How do you write like tomorrow won't arrive? How do you write like you need it to survive? How do you write every second you're alive? Perhaps we should heed Jesus' warning from the parable in Luke 19. Perhaps we should live like we are running out of time.

If you knew that today would be your last, what would you do differently? Tomorrow isn't promised.

The English Chinese Man

In 1853, at the age of 21, Hudson Taylor became a missionary to China. Believing that other missionaries spent too much time with Europeans and did not relate well with the Chinese people, Taylor began to dress in Chinese clothes and grew a long ponytail in imitation of Chinese men. His fellow missionaries disdained his attempts, but he maintained a good rapport with the Chinese people he loved so much.

At that time, foreigners were permitted to live only in coastal cities. Taylor believed that all the Chinese needed to know about Jesus, so he began a movement to send missionaries inland, to more remote and dangerous regions. Despite criticism, he continued to recruit people for the work of his mission organization, China Inland Mission [now known as Overseas Missionary Fellowship]. Taylor struggled with depression in feeling the crushing need for missionaries, eventually suffering a physical and mental breakdown. By then he had recruited hundreds of missionaries. His influence continues, as many believers study his life and become missionaries as well. Does that mean you should too? Not necessarily. The fact that Jesus had different plans for Peter and John is worth noting. — L.M.W.
